Several hundred well-wishers, military families and friends turned out last weekend in blistering heat to welcome home three more Pleasanton GIs who have just returned from Afghanistan. Waving flags and cheering in what are becoming more frequent celebrations as more military from Pleasanton come home, our group included two Congressmen, Eric Swalwell (D-Dublin) and Jerry McNerney (D-Stockton), Pleasanton Mayor Jerry Thorne, two candidates for City Council in next Tuesday’s election — David Miller and Kathy Narum — and, thankfully, Pat Frizzel, co-chair of the Pleasanton Military Families organization. I say “thankfully” because Pat circled through the crowd spraying bottles of water mist on us as the temperatures hit 90 degrees.

Sunday’s homecoming was at the home of Laurie and Greg Leetch on Menlo Court in Valley Trails to celebrate the safe return of their son Air Force Lt. Jonathan Leetch, a Foothill High School graduate. Leetch logged over 700 combat flight hours in Afghanistan. Last Saturday, we joined with Cindy and Matt DePretis to welcome home from Afghanistan their sons Marine Cpl. Marc DePretis and Army Spc. Nathaniel (Nate) DePretis. Another son, Army Spc. Christopher DePretis, returned earlier.

Marc grew up in Pleasanton, joined the Marines in 2008, and was subsequently deployed three times, twice to Southeast Asia, and then, last year, to Sangin, Afghanistan. He completes his service in August. Nate DePretis joined the Army in January 2011, was sent to the Army Airborne School at Ft. Benning, then was assigned to the 173rd Airborne based in Vicenza, Italy. He was a paratrooper for nearly two years, earning his Canadian Jump wings by jumping with the Canadian Army in Poland. Last July, he was deployed to Afghanistan, where, within 10 days of arriving, his unit was attacked and two of his close friends were killed. He received a commendation for his effort to rescue fellow soldiers while under fire. He has another year to serve.

More celebrations are coming, including one next Wednesday for a career Navy seaman coming back from Afghanistan duty. We’ll be there to say “welcome home.”

Man found dead at Pleasanton Ridge

Foul play is not suspected in the death of a man whose body was found Tuesday morning at Pleasanton Ridge Regional Park.

A search for the man, reported missing Monday night, forced the Foothill Staging Area to be closed for about four hours, according to a news release from the Pleasanton Police Department.

“Ultimately, late last night, the man’s car was located in the parking lot of the Pleasanton Ridge Park, which is East Bay Parks Police Jurisdiction,” the report says. “The two agencies worked together to try to locate the missing man.”

At around 8:30 a.m. Tuesday morning, the man’s body was discovered in the hills at the park. The Alameda County Coroner’s office will conduct an investigation to determine the official cause of the man’s death.

His name has not been released.

Missing link opens

The Iron Horse Trail’s last Pleasanton link, which connects Santa Rita Road to the Pleasanton/Dublin BART station, was formally dedicated Wednesday.

The 1.5 mile link is part of the East Bay Green Transportation Initiative, which is funded by the U.S. Department of Transportation’s TIGER II grant, the East Bay Regional Park District Measure WVF passed, the Caltrans Environmental Enhancement and Mitigation program, the Alameda County Transportation Commission, and the city of Pleasanton.

The Iron Horse Trail is a paved pedestrian and bicycle trail located primarily within the former Southern Pacific Railroad right of way established in 1891 and abandoned in 1977. In 1988 a license agreement was entered into by and between EBRPD and Alameda County for the purpose of constructing a trail within this right of way.

When completed, the trail will offer a continuous multi-use pathway extending from Martinez on the Carquinez Strait to the San Joaquin County line near the Altamont Pass.

Amador Valley ‘We the People’ team places 2nd in D.C.

Grant High of Portland takes top honors

By JEB BING

Amador Valley High Schools “We the People” team returned home to cheers and congratulations from parents and supporters at the school’s campus at 9 p.m. Tuesday night, ending a sixday trip to Washington, D.C., where Amador placed second in national finals out of schools from 44 other states and the District of Columbia.

The students, all part of the Competition Civics class, and those in the welcome home celebration thanked their social studies and civics teachers Brian Ladd and Mairi Wohlgemuth for their many hours of coaching since last September, leading up to Monday night’s awards ceremony.

Then they left for home with Advanced Placement tests and final exams ahead as their graduation day approaches.

With this year’s champion Competition Civics class over, it will be up to another class and new students to start the program next August. New teacher-coaches will also have to take over since both Ladd and Wohlgemuth have said this would be their last year to head up the “We the People” program at Amador. The school’s principal, Jim Hansen, a long-time supporter of the We the People program, also is retiring this year.

This was the 12th time Amador Valley has represented California in the We the People national competition. The school’s team won the state championship in Bakersfield on Feb. 9, and since has been meeting every night before school on weeknights and weekends preparing for the national finals.

Amador won the nationals in 1995, but this year that top honor went to students from Grant High School of Portland, Ore., who won first place.

The competition results were announced at an awards ceremony Monday evening before an audience of more than 1,900 students, teachers, coordinators, judges and other program participants.

The students had just completed three days of simulated congressional hearings that tested their knowledge of the U.S. Constitution and Bill of Rights.

During the competition, students demonstrated their knowledge of the Constitution before simulated congressional committees made up of state supreme court judges, constitutional scholars, lawyers, public officials and We the People alumni. The first round of the hearings took place Saturday and Sunday, Monday, the top 10 schools competed in actual congressional hearing rooms on Capitol Hill.

Amador Valley seniors who made presentations in Washington were Dena Behnam, Grant Bonham, Sara Borchers, Grant Cohen, Courtney Dickson, Will Dormann, Teresa Duddy, Blair Guilloise, Mckhala Hoskote, Shubhankar Kapoor, Bobby Lee, Mitchell Mayo and Sabrina McGraw.

Also making presentations were Adriana Morton, Sri Muppuri, Jordan Nally, Jon Nieman, Alexis Orecto, Dhiraj Pangal, Henry Person, Jena Pinnin, Nick Powell, Anika Riley, Adit Sinha, Arany Uthayakumar, Eric Yang, Yves Yang, Kashyap Yechuri and Ke Zhao.

10 seconds to stop a crime

By GLENN WOLTMANN

It takes about 10 seconds to break into a car. It takes about as much time for the owners to place items out of sight in a locked trunk.

That’s according to Pleasanton Crime Prevention Officer Archie Chu, who demonstrated recently how quickly a thief can get access to a locked car if there’s something that could be valuable inside.

Chu said about a third of the thefts that occur in auto break-ins in Pleasanton are from cars that are left unlocked or with their windows open.

“When you make it that easy, make it too easy for the bad guys,” Chu said.

It’s a simple fix to stop those crimes. Take a few moments and put valuables somewhere they can’t be seen.

Hiding things under a jacket or bag doesn’t work, he added.

A recent tour of a Pleasanton parking lot with Chu showed no obvious items in sight, but about a half dozen cars had bags, jackets and other items used to keep valuables out of view.

“One of the mistakes people make is hiding things under a jacket. That doesn’t fool anyone,” Chu said. He pointed out one case where a bag was used to hide electronics that had been left plugged in to charge.

Crime statistics from the Pleasanton Police Department show 53 auto burglaries through the end of March, while at the same time last year, there had been 56, a drop of about 5%.

There were 100 thefts from unlocked vehicles through March of this year, while there had been 80 thefts from unlocked vehicles as of the end of March 2012, a rise of about 25%. Chu described the majority of the thefts from unlocked vehicles as crimes of opportunity.

Most were in residential neighborhoods, but a significant number were from cars at Stoneridge Shopping Center or parked along commercial streets. Chu said to take See CRIME on Page 9

Local activist Jack Dove dies at 89

By JEB BING

Memorial services will be held for Pleasanton community activist Jack Dove on May 25, on what would have been his 90th birthday. He was a former executive with the old Montgomery Ward department store company, and he died April 24 in his home at Ridge View Commons.

Mr. Dove served on city and civic commissions and committees after he and his late wife Polly moved here in 1986. He may be best remembered for his days sitting in the “adjunct” City Hall, a one room wooden building that long sat at the edge of Lions Wayside Park, where he and his close friend, the late Roger McLain, would meet with civic leaders and sometimes just those waiting for the bus to discuss municipal, state and national issues.

Over the years, Mr. Dove became a credible resource on Pleasanton politics and politicians, and he was welcomed in almost every office without an appointment, which he seldom made.

Born May 25, 1923, he met his future wife at the Aberdeen Proving Ground medical center in Maryland, where he was a soldier recovering from pneumonia. The couple moved to Bethlehem, Pa., where he completed his college degree in chemical engineering at Lehigh University.

His career took his family to Itasca and Olympia Fields, near Chicago, Louisville, Ky., overseas to Newcastle-Upon-Tyne, England, and Danville, San Mateo, and Fullerton here in California. They lived in Alamo before moving to Pleasanton.

His memorial service will take place at 2 p.m., Saturday, May 25, at Lynnewood Methodist Church in Pleasanton, where he was a member. He is survived by his daughter Suzanne Dove of Berkeley; sons Jay of San Diego and Bill of Carlsbad, and grandchildren Christopher Altiere-Dove of Berkeley and Cameron Dove of Carlsbad.

Foothill parents discuss what they hope for in a new principal

By Glenn Wohlmann

Parents of Foothill High School students are looking for a “strong leader” in a new principal, someone with “demonstrable experience in improving test scores.”

At a meeting on April 24, 16 parents talked about what they want in a new leader at the school. Students and staff provided their input at separate sessions.

Parents said they want someone who will “look at the whole school,” and someone who’s willing to “take responsibility for the school’s success” in a new leader to replace Principal John Dwyer.

Dwyer is leaving the district in June to take a job as principal in the Fremont Union High School District.

They don’t want someone who sees the school as a stepping stone toward a new position. Parents also said they don’t see the job as one for someone who’s a new principal, but don’t want “someone who’s going to retire in a couple of years” either.

Ideally, they said the new principal should be a parent of a child who’s been through high school, but “not 20 years ago.”

They also want the school’s new principal to be able to strike a balance, “someone who’s willing to have the tough conversations,” but also “someone with a heart for the children, someone who cares about the parents’ needs as well as the students’ needs.”

One parent with two students in special education said she wants a principal who “understands the parents’ needs as well as the students’ needs.”

That causes a lot of stress on kids,” a parent said.

One parent with two students in special education said she wants a principal who “understands the parents’ needs as well as the students’ needs.”

One said she sees the school doing a great job for both, high-achieving students and special needs students.

“I’d like to see a little focus on the average kids,” she said.

For the most part, parent and student requests echoed one another.

Students are looking for a principal who cares about kids, both as individuals and as a school group, and someone who will build school spirit and the Foothill community.

They also want someone who will interact with students, someone who is visible, and a great communicator, a principal who motivates kids to learn and is willing to try new things.

Staff comments were held in a closed-door session and were not available.

The district has received applications from as far away as Texas, Illinois and Minnesota. The applicant pool will be narrowed to about 10 finalists who will meet with two groups.

One of the groups is a community group, with parents, staff, possibly a principal and members of the California School Employes Association of Pleasanton Teachers. The second group will be made up of district staff, other administrators and sitting principals.

Each group will make its recommendations, leaving two to four candidates for a final decision.

The school board is expected to make a final decision later this month, although Human Resources Director Mark McCoy said if no one is clearly right for the job, the district is prepared to begin the application process over again.

Protesters against plans to cut Social Security

Chant ‘No cuts’ in front of Swalwell’s local Congressional office

BY GLENN WOHLTMANN

Ten people, largely senior citizens, showed up at the Pleasanton office of Congressman Eric Swalwell (D-Dublin) on April 26 to protest proposed cuts to Social Security.

The cuts are part of a compromise package offered by President Barrack Obama to Republicans in an effort to balance the budget. The 10 chanted, “No cuts to Social Security,” and “Jobs not cuts.”

After the short protest at Swalwell’s office at 5075 Hopyard Road, the group went to meet with Swalwell’s office staff. The local organizer of the event, Frank Button, said, “We met with Josh Huber, who’s his senior staffer.”

Burton called Huber noncommittal, adding that Swalwell has not issued a statement. Swalwell also hasn’t said whether he’ll sign a letter to Obama, signed by Reps. Mark Takano (D-Riverside) and Alan Grayson (D-Fla.), warning against cuts to Medicare, Medicaid and Social Security.

The group also delivered a petition with 560 names that was begun by MoveOn member, Kevin Reynolds.

The Dublin congressman does support raising the ceiling on contributions, which could extend the date that Social Security would become insolvent, currently estimated to be 2033, according to Burton.

“Congressman Swalwell opposes any cuts to Social Security. In order to ensure the long-term viability of Social Security, he believes we should raise the cap on wages subjected to Social Security tax,” said Allison Bormel, Swalwell’s spokeswoman. “As a policy Congressman Swalwell does not sign pledges. A non-pledge pledge,” he likes to call it.

Obama doesn’t actually plan to cut the program; his plan calls for smaller cost-of-living increases, beginning in 2015.

Some, including U.S. Sen. Nancy Pelosi from California, said not increasing the amount people receive is the same thing as a benefit cut.

The group also said the Washington Post reported that GOP leaders have said they’d back Social Security tax increases if cuts are made to Medicare, Medicaid and Social Security.

Help solve the Big Draw Monet Mystery: Clue 4

Judge Harris decided to call on Eva Kottinger Burnett to see if she was the artist who had drawn the bridge and flowers. He found her outside in her yard, painting a scene of her garden and asked her if the pencil sketch of the flowers was done by her.

“No,” replied Mrs. Burnett, “I think this may have been done by my student, Angela La Fleur, a talented, 12-year-old artist and a student at Pleasanton Grammar School on Knowledge Hill.”

“Thank you Mrs. Burnett. I’ll head over there right away,” he said.

As Judge Harris was galloping down Main Street, he saw the volunteer fire truck racing ahead of him — the school was on fire! The children and teachers watched as the firefighters struggled in vain to save the school. The judge jumped off his horse and asked if anyone knew Angela La Fleur.

“Sure do,” one of the girls said. “She was my best friend. Her family moved to France last week. They got a big inheritance and now she’ll have lessons with the fancy artists over there.”

Find a copy of the flower painting hidden in downtown Pleasanton and find out where you can win one of the fabulous prizes from The Big Draw: A City-Wide Arts Celebration on May 11. This mystery combines fact and fiction. Go to www.The-Big-Draw.com to learn more about the modern day creator of the watercolor, “Monet’s Garden.” To learn more about Pleasanton’s history, go to The Museum on Main or Towne Center Books to read up.

PacifiWest Capital Group: Alternative Investment Opportunities

STAFF REPORTS

Los Angeles — Are you looking for a way to invest your money but the stock market seems a bit too uncertain for you? PacifiWest Capital Group may have the answer you are looking for to strengthen your financial resources.

PacifiWest has been in the business of life settlement investments for the past eight years, giving individual, California investors access to an asset class previously only available to institutional investors and large hedge funds. Life Settlements are a growing market currently with a value of $20 billion and with the industry averaging 12-14 percent annual rates of return, is only expected to grow.

The life settlement transaction is a mutually beneficial one that enables investors to strengthen and diversify their portfolios and at the same time, helps the elderly that are actively looking to sell their policy. Simply put, PacifiWest helps the senior citizens that want to cash out his/her life insurance policy for a greater return than if cashed out for the insurance company; and for the investor, PacifiWest enables them to invest their money into something more stable than the stock market or other ventures.

“Life Settlements give seniors the best opportunity to get more money to help pay medical and living expenses from us than they would from their insurance companies,” said Andrew Calhoun, President/CEO of PacifiWest Capital Group.

Investors participate in the purchase of the policies from the original policy owners by buying fractional shares in a policy or policies. They are then recorded as a beneficiary of the policy.

With PacifiWest’s structure, they offer the investor a minimum of 100 percent total fixed return or higher. For example, if you invest $50,000, you will get a minimum of $100,000 upon the maturation of the policy. At a minimum, you will double your money. “There’s phenomenal return potential.”

“For a $20,000 minimum, individual investors have the same opportunity to have the same type of returns as much larger institutional investors,” Calhoun said. “They do not have to put up hundreds of thousands or millions of dollars to get double-digit returns.”

Life Settlements, themselves, are regulated as a security by the State of California and as an extra level of protection for their investors, PacifiWest works with only the most respected brokers and reputable insurance companies. Investor funds are also not handled directly by PacifiWest, rather all money goes directly to an escrow company and then implemented into the policies held in a trust for investors. The source of the payout on investment is an “A” rated or better life insurance company.

To find out more about Life Settlement investments, please call Daven Sharma (CA Insurance License# 0C09851), an independent authorized representative of PacifiWest Capital Group, at 925-400-8333 or send an email to info@abundanceadviser.com.
Centerpointe teacher won’t face charges

‘We conducted a thorough review of the evidence’

BY GLENN WOHLTMANN

The teacher who taped a toddler’s hands and feet at Centerpointe Christian Preschool in Pleasanton will not face criminal charges, a spokeswoman for the Alameda County District Attorney’s Office said Tuesday.

“We conducted a thorough review of the evidence presented and declined to file charges,” said D.A.’s Office spokeswoman Teresa Drenick. “We don’t go into further details.”

Angela Calcagno, a former employee at the school, showed a photo on her cell phone to the mother of the 2-year-old at a social gathering the two attended in early March.

That led to a citation against the preschool from the state Department of Social Services and an investigation by the Pleasanton Police Department, which sent the evidence surrounding the case to the D.A.’s office for review.

According to a DSS report, filed March 7, ‘(a) staff member who is no longer employed at the center told the child that if she did not take a nap, that the staff member was going to tie her up. The child continued to refuse a nap, and the staff member tied up the child’s ankles with masking tape.’

The photo was shared with both current and past staff members from Centerpointe — including the girl’s mother — the DSS report stated.

“It was confirmed that the photograph showed the girl with her ankles and wrists tied with masking tape while sitting on her cot at the facility.”

A police report was filed March 4, and Centerpointe reported the incident to DSS on March 5.

Although there will not be a criminal prosecution, Calcagno and Centerpointe have been named in a civil lawsuit filed by the girl’s parents.

The civil case was filed in Martinez on March 21 alleging that Angela Calcagno was unlicensed and unlawfully employed by the school.

The lawsuit claims the girl was bound because Calcagno viewed nap time was her personal time, “and punished and restrained any non-napping child to ensure this.”

According to the lawsuit, the child’s parents are seeking psychiatric intervention after her behavior changed following the incident.

The girl’s behavior, the lawsuit says, “included an inability to nap longer than a few hours consecutively before waking up in a panic.” She also began “exhibiting signs of stress,” and became “inexplicably frightened and inconsolable.”

The lawsuit also says Calcagno “tormented” the girl’s mother at a social event in March, showing off a picture of the restrained girl and “bragging that she was the one who tied up the toddler.”

The lawsuit claims false imprisonment, battery, intentional infliction of emotional distress and negligence against the child by Calcagno. It claims Centerpointe is liable because it hired her.

The allegations made in the lawsuit are not facts, just claims. Any possible fines will be determined by a judge or jury, should it go to trial. The lawsuit seeks an unspecified amount of compensation and punitive damages, and asks for a jury trial.

Calcagno, who quit Centerpointe Christian Preschool in February, was ordered by the state not to have any contact with clients or to be “physically present” at the school.

She has since filed an appeal of the DSS order.

extra precautions when headed out to shop.

At the mall or downtown, he said, “Move things to the trunk before you get to your destination.”

The Pleasanton Police Department is starting a new campaign to help stop auto burglaries and other property crimes. The program is similar to the “If I Were A Thief” program in Danville. There, volunteers leave a card if they find an opportunity for a crime.

In Pleasanton, volunteers and patrol officers will leave a tri-fold pamphlet on a car window or in a door jam.

The pamphlet will contain the time police or volunteers were there, with items checked off to let a resident know the opportunity at the site for a crime, such as property left inside a vehicle, doors or windows or a garage doors left unlocked or open, or newspapers or mail accumulating at a home.

The tri-fold was specifically designed not to look like a citation, and states that it is a courtesy notice from the Police Department.

Running for fun — and funds

Walnut Grove Elementary School second-graders leap off the starting line during the annual Fun Run, running laps on the school playground last Friday. The students and teachers raised thousands of dollars for the school through sponsorships.

Walnut Grove PTA organizes several fundraisers throughout the year to support critical personnel and programs that are not fully funded by the state, according to the school website. The money raised on this year’s Fun Run will go toward literacy, math and technology. One of the goals is to fund a second iMac lab for the 2013-14 school year.

Public Information Meeting for the I-580 Westbound Express Lane Project

NOTICE OF PUBLIC MEETING: The California Department of Transportation (Caltrans) and the Alameda County Transportation Commission (Alameda CTC) are holding a public meeting on May 14, 2013, to discuss the upcoming I-580 Westbound Express Lane Project.

WHAT IS BEING PLANNED? Caltrans and Alameda CTC propose to convert the planned high-occupancy vehicle (HOV) lane on I-580 westbound in Dublin, Pleasanton, and Livermore to an express lane. The express lane will allow carpools, vanpools, motorcycles, buses, and eligible clean-air vehicles to travel without a fee while also giving solo drivers the option to pay to use the lane to avoid congestion. The total length of the proposed project is approximately 13.7 miles.

The purpose of the proposed project is to provide additional congestion relief, provide enhanced operational and safety improvements, expand the mobility options in the corridor, and maintain consistency with the provisions defined in Assembly Bills 2032 (2004) and 574 (2007) to implement express lanes in the I-580 corridor.

WHY THIS AD? This notice is to inform you that a public meeting will be held on Tuesday, May 14, 2013, from 5:00 PM to 7:00 PM in the Regional Meeting Room at the Dublin Civic Center, 100 Civic Plaza, Dublin, CA. The meeting will be an open house for the public to learn about how the proposed express lane will work and to talk with members of the project team.

Applicants were waiting in line as Walmart opened a temporary hiring center this week to fill about 65 full- and part-time positions at its new store in the Meadow Plaza shopping center on Santa Rita Road near West Las Positas Boulevard in Pleasanton.

The 34,000-square-foot store will open in mid-July in the building once occupied by Nob Hill supermarket, a unit of Raley’s that was closed three years ago. Meadow Plaza is connected to Santa Rita Square, which is at the corner of Santa Rita and West Las Positas.

Store manager Alton Wheeler opened the hiring center and other Walmart representatives joined him in greeting applicants.

He said that Walmart provides a benefits program to eligible full- and part-time associates. For example, it provides a variety of affordable health and well-being benefits including healthcare coverage with no lifetime maximum.

The average wage for full-time hourly associates in California is $12.93 per hour. Walmart also offers eligible associates matching 401(k) contributions of up to 6% of their pay, discounts on general merchandise, an Associate Stock Purchase Program and company-paid life insurance. Additionally, eligible associates receive a quarterly incentive based on store performance.

Wheeler, who has been with Walmart for 12 years, said the Neighborhood Markets are considered a small format store and designed for customer convenience. The Pleasanton stores will offer a full supermarket line of fresh produce and groceries, as well as household products, pet supplies and pharmacy services.

Besides bringing renewed economic activity to Meadow Plaza, Walmart’s increased presence in Pleasanton, where a full service regular Walmart store is just a mile away, could add to the company’s community involvement here.

Walmart and the Walmart Foundation announced $958.9 million in cash and in-kind contributions around the globe during the fiscal year ending Jan. 31, 2012. The company’s U.S. giving grew nearly 20%, largely due to increased donations of produce, meats, poultry and other nutritious food to local food banks from Walmart stores, Sam’s Club locations and distribution centers.

In the U.S., Walmart and the Walmart Foundation gave $872.7 million in cash and in-kind gifts in the fiscal year ending 2012, including 28,980,368 in cash and in-kind donations in California.

In the Pleasanton area, those benefiting from Walmart contributions included Tri-Valley Haven Food Bank, Open Heart Kitchen, Alameda County Food Bank, Valley Humane Society, Foothill High School and Alisal, Fairlands and Donlon elementary schools.

Safeway names its current president to succeed Chairman Steve Burd on May 14

Burd has been president of Safeway since 1992

Pleasanton-based Safeway Corp. has announced that its president, Robert Edwards, will succeed Steven A. Burd as chief executive officer when Burd retires May 14.

Edwards, who is 57, will also join the company’s board of directors.

At the same time, it was announced that Gary Rogers, currently the company’s Lead Independent Director, will become Safeway’s new chief financial officer.

Edwards joined Safeway in 2004 as executive vice president and chief financial officer. In April 2012, he was named president, with overall responsibility for the company’s retail operations, marketing, merchandising, corporate brands, manufacturing, distribution and finance functions. He continued as chief financial officer until Pete Bocian succeeded him in that role in February of this year.

Prior to joining Safeway, Edwards served as a senior executive at Maxtor Corp., Imation Corp. and Santa Fe Pacific Corp. He serves as a director on KKR Financial Holdings, LLC and on Blackhawk Network Holdings Inc., a subsidiary of Safeway Inc.

He holds a Masters in Business Administration and a bachelor of sciences degree in Accounting from Brigham Young University.

Rogers has been a member of the board since March 2011. He is the former chairman and chief executive officer of Dreyer’s Grand Ice Cream Inc., where he led the development of the country’s largest ice cream company from 1977 to 2007. He later served as non-executive chairman of Levi Strauss & Co. and of the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco.

A Safeway spokesman said the company’s board of directors undertook a thorough search and concluded that Edwards is the best candidate to lead Safeway.

Burd has been president of Safeway since October 26, 1992, and CEO since April 30, 1993. He joined the board of directors on Sept. 7, 1993 and has served as chairman of the board since May 12, 1998. He also sits on the board of directors of Kohl’s.

Community of Character awards fiting tribute to Juanita Haugen

In a fitting tribute to its founder, Pleasanton’s Community of Character Collaborative has selected three prominent residents and a local service club for its prestigious 2013 awards. Those being honored at a May 16 luncheon in the Veterans Memorial Building are Pam Yeaw, a Pleasanton Police Department volunteer; Jim Ott, who started the Poet Laureate program in Pleasanton and is a former school board member; Tom Fox, a local Realtor who has traveled on 17 medical missions around the world at his own expense; and The Rotary Club of Pleasanton, best known for its downtown Spirit runs on Father’s Day and Halloween to raise money for scholarships for Pleasanton students and to provide and distribute wheelchairs to the needy in Latin America.

Founded by the late Juanita Haugen, a long-time school board member and a nationally recognized booster of education programs, the Community of Character Award program was established in 2008 to recognize Pleasanton citizens who consistently model high ethical and moral standards of behavior. Recipients are chosen each year for their adherence to the principles the collaborative advocates: Responsibility, Compassion, Self-Discipline, Honesty, Respect and Integrity.

In choosing Pam Yeaw for this year’s award, the collaborative cited her 50 to 80 hours of volunteer work each month for the Pleasanton Police Department since the Citizens Academy began in 2007. Most often she works patrol duty, which requires her to drive a squad car and write tickets for handicap and parking violations. Pam also works special events on foot patrol and spends time working with youths who have committed minor offenses. Yeaw has lived in Pleasanton for 32 years, where she and her husband have raised their children. She is a great example of a citizen taking personal responsibility to make Pleasanton a wonderful and safe place to live and work.

The Community of Character Collaborative chose Jim Ott for this year’s award in recognition of his work in starting the Poet Laureate program in Pleasanton, where he also served as poet laureate for two years. He also served one term on the Pleasanton school board and has been heavily involved with the Pleasanton Partnerships In Education (PPIE) Foundation, the Pleasanton Youth Master Plan Implementation Committee, the Pleasanton Library Strategic Plan Committee, and, for more than 25 years, as a member of the Pleasanton North Rotary Club. An adjunct professor of English at Las Positas College, Ott also hosts a monthly program on community broadcast station TV30 called “In Search of Poetry.” For five years, he has helped to raise over $25,000 for local school programs.

This year’s award recipient Tom Fox volunteers his time and money to support those in need at both local and global levels. He has been a director on the Chamber of Commerce board and also its foundation arm, president of the downtown Rotary Club, and active as a church volunteer and a nationally recognized volunteer for Rotoplas, a Rotary-affiliated program. At his own expense, he has taken more than 17 Rotoplas trips around the world on medical missions. Fox also supports Pleasanton’s Military Families organization, almost always participating in homecoming celebrations for returning Pleasanton GIs from Afghanistan.

This year’s Community of Character award to a nonprofit organization is going to the Rotary Club of Pleasanton, often called “Downtown Rotary” and one of three Rotary organizations serving Pleasanton. The downtown club has been active in Pleasanton more than 48 years. The club’s dedication to youth is demonstrated through its fundraising efforts that have contributed more than $320,000 in scholarships to over 240 students based on financial need. Each December, the club also serves holiday dinners to some 350 seniors.

The luncheon is open to the public with tickets costing $40. Reservations must be made by next Friday, May 10, and can be delivered or mailed to the Pleasanton Chamber of Commerce, 777 Peters Ave., Pleasanton, CA 94566 or the Community of Character, PO Box 21, Pleasanton, CA 94566.

Flat tires for cyclists

Dear Editor,

I live in Lafayette but often ride my bike through Pleasanton en route to Livermore. I pick up your newspaper whenever I pass through Pleasanton and consult your website from time to time. Sometime before the afternoon of Saturday, April 27, someone shattered fluorescent light bulbs onto the Iron Horse Trail a little bit east of Santa Rita Road. I have a few photos of the mess. I phoned East Bay Regional Park District police immediately after I rode through the mess.

This seemed to be an intentional effort to cause flat tires to cyclists. It looked to me like it was shattered plating unit after unit gone through it. Once I realized it was shattered glass, I stopped and pulled sharp shards out of my bicycle tires, so fortunately I did not suffer a flat tire 20 miles from home. However, if I had kept riding, the glass likely would have penetrated into the inner tube.

Cyclists in Pleasanton need to beware of the fluorescent blub incident as the culprit possibly will repeat it elsewhere. It was scattered in such a way that there was no good way to avoid the shattered glass.

Narum’s qualities

Dear Editor,

This week we cast our votes for Kathy Narum for Pleasanton City Council. This was a very easy decision for all three voters in our family.

We believe that Kathy brings a very high quality of intelligence, experience, dedication and a true love for the city of Pleasanton.

We watched Kathy as she worked tirelessly in her term as president of Pleasanton Seahawks. The team gained a secure financial footing and doubled in size. She brought the same dedication to RAGE, the Parks and Rec Commission, the Planning Commission and the various tasks she has served on.

She is a dedicated researcher, and looks at all sides of an issue before forming an opinion. She is always open to civil debate to move the city forward and welcomes understanding from diverse viewpoints. She most definitely will make herself available to the people of Pleasanton.

Finally, she loves Pleasanton, she lives in that city with her husband and she has raised their children. She is a great example of a citizen taking personal responsibility to make Pleasanton a wonderful and safe place to live and work.

Karen and David Souders, Lafayette

Olivia has vision

Dear Editor,

A great City Council is comprised of good people who want to do great things and have the vision to be proactive. We need diversity of opinion in order to have the critical conversations to make the best decisions possible. I am supporting Olivia Sarwong for City Council because she possesses the skills that don’t exist on the council now, nor with any of the other candidates. She has current 21st century education experience. For over 12 years, she has been solution driven and she represents a demographic that has little voice on the council, young families. Importantly, she is not connected to any interest group. What drives Olivia is civic engagement. She is a product of our educational system. She understands our history and she has a vision for our future. Join me in voting for Olivia Sarwong by dropping your ballot off at 123 Main St. by 5 p.m. Tuesday, May 7.

Cathy Bemis, Pleasanton

Why I’m voting for Miller

Dear Editor,

Dave Miller gets my vote for two primary reasons. First, he appreciates what makes Pleasanton special and understands the need to protect those foundational elements from special interests that would distort or curtail the city’s benefits. Second, David has proven that he does his homework to take a fact-based approach to making his decisions.

Miller for council

Dear Editor,

I believe that David Miller is the best candidate for City Council. He has 25 years of experience in Silicon Valley technology companies. As a computer designer he was awarded nine patents for his inventions and now he leads teams of engineers to deliver extremely complex projects for his company. We need the same leadership and problem-solving abilities on Pleasanton’s City Council to bring accountability and results orientation.

David has already demonstrated this ability on many issues facing the city. I was particularly impressed by the way David advocated on behalf of the citizens for a solution to the city’s unfunded pension liability that was fair to the taxpayers along with ensuring that the city can meet its obligations to our valued employees.

Tough decisions need to be made that are fair to everyone. Numerous cities are going through bankruptcy proceedings, suing Calpers, etc. We need David’s no-nonsense, business oriented approach on the Pleasanton City Council and I am glad he is running for this office.

Please join me in voting for David Miller for the City Council.

decisions that balance the needs of all stakeholders. This is what promotes lasting compromise — the type that makes Pleasanton the great community that it is.

While I may have different perspectives on topics from David from time to time, I have found him very open to alternative views. He seeks to understand alternative perspectives and ultimately lets his search for the unbiased facts dictate his positions. Pleasanton needs more independent and engaged leaders such as David. This is why he gets my vote.

Supporting Narum

Dear Editor,

I am supporting Kathy Narum for the open seat on the Pleasanton City Council. Kathy has years of leadership experience in the community, including the Planning Commission and Parks and Recreation Commission. Because of her involvement, there will be no learning curve for her on the council. Kathy is a person who is accessible and listens to all people in the community. I can personally attest to the fact that she considers all viewpoints before making a decision. She is an independent thinker and she stands up for what she thinks is right.

Kathy is very supportive of our schools and I know she will work with the school district in doing what is best for our children. Please join me in voting for Kathy Narum for Pleasanton City Council.

Valerie Arkin, School Board Trustee, Pleasanton Unified School District

Miller understands

Dear Editor,

As a Pleasanton Unified School District parent, I feel it is time we put someone on the City Council that has children in Pleasanton schools. David Miller is that candidate. Why is that important? With three daughters in public schools, he understands the impact that high density housing projects, 30 units per acre, will have on our already overcrowded classrooms.

David is running for the right reasons. He is not running for political gain or to serve special interests who want to urbanize Pleasanton. He is not running to use city government to push an agenda that continues unsustainable fiscal practices. Like many of us, he moved to Pleasanton for the great schools and the small town atmosphere and great community spirit. He wants to protect and preserve our unique Pleasanton lifestyle.

It is time we elect someone who will truly look out for the people of Pleasanton, ensure we grow at a sensible rate, understands the impacts projects will have on our community before they are approved, and will fight for open government that truly serves the citizens of Pleasanton.

If you feel the same way, then please vote for David Miller.

Mindy Mahoney

Narum works hard for us

Dear Editor,

It is easy to label someone. Her opponent has labeled Kathy Narum as a “bureaucrat.” These personal attacks have no place in our community and, in the case of Kathy, nothing can be farther from the truth. I have known Kathy for several years having served with her on the Planning Commission. She has a clear track record of accomplishment. She works hard for the citizens of Pleasanton, and her contributions to the success of the commission and the task forces upon which she serves are well documented. Check her documented record of accomplishment yourself.

Kathy has volunteered literally thousands of hours in the service of this community. She takes the time to learn and fully understand the issues that affect our city. She understands the practicality of what can and cannot be done under the law and, frankly, gets it done.

How has her opponent served our city? In short, other than being a resident, he hasn’t. But when you don’t have a track record, you resort to a label to try and divert attention from that fact. Don’t be fooled by a disingenuous label. Vote for Kathy Narum for City Council.

Phil Blank

Miller will look out for me

Dear Editor,

Most of us are too busy dealing with the things life is throwing us to pay much attention to local city politics. This is why it is important that we elect someone like David Miller who will watch out for the interests of the average citizen. David is someone I can trust to do the right thing for the citizens of Pleasanton.

Council election to be decided Tuesday

BY JEB BING

It's election time again and four candidates — Mark Hamilton, David Miller, Kathy Narum and Olivia Sanwong — are seeking election to the one open Pleasanton City Council seat next Tuesday in what appears to be a lively, robust and heavily promoted contest.

There's just one problem: Very few seem to be voting.

Those who have not yet mailed their ballot to the Alameda County Registrar may want to reconsider dropping the envelopes in the mailbox. Postal service between Pleasanton and Oakland can take several days and ballots must be in the Registrar's office no later than 8 p.m. next Tuesday to be counted.

But not to worry, as the candidates, themselves, are now advising. Pleasanton City Clerk Karen Diaz can accept hand-delivered ballots at her office in the Civic Center complex until 3 p.m. Tuesday, when a representative of the registrar will whisk them to the downtown Oakland office in time to be counted.

Because this election is by mail only, no polling places will be open Tuesday, officially known as Election Day. The council election ballots were sent to each of Pleasanton's 42,485 registered voters on April 8 and voters could choose their candidate and mail them in starting that date.

So far, though, only 12.5% of registered voters have voted, an historically low percentage and well under the 47% of voters who cast their ballots by mail in last November's national and local election.

There's no minimum number of votes that must be cast and it's anybody's guess whether a low turnout, as this election is seeing, helps one candidate over another. Bolstered by flag waving cheerleaders, computer-generated phone calls, door-to-door canvassing and costly campaign promotions and signs, candidates have been hoping to "bring out the votes."

Some of them will make a "last gasp" effort to generate votes tomorrow at Farmers Market in Pleasanton, on sports fields and again at busy street corners.

The special election was called by the council last fall after Councilman Jerry Thorne was elected mayor, leaving two years of his unexpired term as councilman. The candidate chosen to succeed him Tuesday will serve until the 2014 municipal election, and can then seek re-election to that post for a four-year term.

The campaign started in earnest with each of the four candidates answering voters' questions and discussing their governing strengths at a public forum April 9, hosted by the Pleasanton Weekly in the City Council chambers and also broadcast repeatedly in the weeks following by TV30, the community's public broadcast system.

At that forum and in materials made available in their campaigns, each of the four candidates provided information about themselves and their candidacy, which follows in alphabetical order.

Mark Hamilton

Mark Hamilton, 52, is a 25-year resident of the Bay Area and Pleasanton, where he raised his two sons, who attended Pleasanton schools. He holds a bachelor's degree in Business Management from Purdue University and an M.B.A. from Golden Gate University. He is the Financial Services Director at ADP Inc. in Pleasanton, where he has worked for the past 15 years. He also served 24 years as a senior officer in the U.S. Marine Corps. He has been deeply involved in community affairs with a focus on youth groups and athletics. His priorities would include: fiscal management, planned growth, protection of schools, police and fire safety. More information on Hamilton is available at www.HamiltonforPleasanton.com.

David Miller

David Miller comes from humble beginnings and grew up in small town America. His wife, Laura, is a Chinese immigrant. They have three young daughters and live in Pleasanton. A successful Silicon Valley businessman for 25 years, Miller has helped grow Nvidia from 500 employees to 7,500 with over $4 billion in sales annually. Miller said he was encouraged to run for City Council to give business owners, homeowners and taxpayers a greater voice in city government. His priorities include resolving Pleasanton's pension liabilities without raising taxes, fighting special interests that want to create barriers to new business development, and finding new ways for Pleasanton schools to control their budgets without compromising classroom performance. More information is available at www.votedavidmiller.com.

Kathy Narum

Kathy Narum is an experienced civic leader. Currently in her fifth year as Planning Commissioner, she also served as a member of the Parks and Recreation Commission and on numerous city task forces and volunteer groups. In addition, she has been a small-business owner and chemical engineer. Her priorities are to listen to the concerns of all residents and work to maintain Pleasanton's quality of life and small town feel, maintaining fiscal responsibility by reducing the city's unfunded pension liability while increasing revenues, ensuring responsible growth, maintaining Pleasanton's excellent schools, and preserving and creating more parks and open space. More information is available at www.kathynarum.com.

Olivia Sanwong

Olivia Sanwong represents multiple segments of Pleasanton's population, which she states is the most important reason why she is inspired to run for City Council. Sanwong, who has lived in Pleasanton since 1981, attended schools here, has worked as a high tech professional, and is a member of the city's Economic Vitality and Cultural Plan committees. She was recently appointed by Congressman Eric Swalwell (D-Dublin) to the Women's Advisory Committee for California's 15th Congressional District. Her priorities include bringing "fresh new ideas" to the City Council, advancing the city's economy, schools and infrastructure, and holding on to Pleasanton's cultural values. Ashley Cligny

Ashley Cligny took her last breath peacefully early Sunday morning with her mother and father by her side. Ashley was diagnosed with a malignant brain tumor in October of 2011 while attending the University of California at Davis after transferring from Washington University at the end of her sophomore year. Ashley was described as an “old soul” and enthusiastically lived the typical life of a college student - attending class, playing soccer, making and nurturing friendships and always wanting to spend time with family. In many ways, Ashley will be remembered most for her courageous battle with the disease that would take her life, but not conquer her spirit, as she taught us to be positive not negative, living not bitter and to marvel at the power of her spirit to overcome her circumstances.

Ashley leaves behind her mother and father, Tani and John Cligny, sisters, Jonalin McCollum and Janelle Cligny, brother-in-law Matt McCollum, niece Alice McCollum, father James Loughmiller, brother Chase Loughmiller as well as grandparents, aunts, uncles and cousins.

A celebration of Ashley’s life and Mass is planned for Friday May 3rd at 11:00 AM at Saint Augustine’s Catholic Church, 3999 Bernard Ave, Pleasanton. A reception will immediately follow in Parish Hall. Ashley’s interment at Saint Augustine Cemetery in Pleasanton will be private.

Ashley was fortunate to have a world-class medical team at UCSF Medical Center and was especially fond of her therapeutic horseback riding at Hoofprints on the Heart in Livermore. John and Tani ask that in lieu of flowers and in support of those less fortunate that you make generous contributions to Hoofprints on the Heart, http://www.hoofprints.org/ and the UCSF Foundation at https://makeagift.ucsf.edu. If you can, direct your gift to the Brain Tumor Research Center (B0628) or Child Life Services (B0948).

Art Made Easy — FOR 20 YEARS & COUNTING

Students tap inner talents, take break from worries

By Dolores Fox Ciardelli

Pleasanton artist Charlotte Severin and her students are holding their annual spring exhibit next week, but this time they’ll be celebrating a special anniversary. This is the 20th year Severin has been teaching Art Made Easy through the city.

“I started at the Senior Center, 20 years ago,” Severin recalled.

Now she teaches in the expansive new art rooms at the Firehouse Arts Center on Railroad Avenue. The exhibit will show works from her fall and winter quarters as well as the spring students.

“I taught beginning classes but people were wanting a more advanced class,” Severin said.

Now her classes are for intermediate and advanced students. Her beginner classes are on a set of DVDs at the all three libraries in the Tri-Valley and for sale from her.

“The four DVDs range from the very beginning — how to hold your brush, Chinese brush painting — then moving into flowers, then into the color wheel and still life and about mixing colors, how to hold the brush and control it,” she said.

The lessons also include contour drawing, landscapes, mountain scenes, a hypothetical and imaginary desert scene, then on to Mount Diablo.

“If people go through that series then they can come to this class,” Severin said.

She encourages people to try her art classes:

“You never know what talent is lying untapped inside of you,” she said. “You’d be surprised how many people never thought they had talent. If you stick with it, you can make it successful.”

Severin’s students rave not just about the painting techniques they learn from her but the therapeutic value of the sessions, Severin agrees.

“Painting is a meditative experience,” she said. “It helps a lot of people get through problems. For those three hours your mind is completely off any troubles you may be having. While doing art, it allows yourself a vacation from worry.”

Although Severin works in multimedia, she teaches watercolors in her city-sponsored classes.

“I started as an oil painter when I was 12 but now use acrylics, pastels, drawing with charcoal but primarily do watercolor because I am a plein air artist,” she said.

“We take trips all over the world — China, Tibet, France, Italy, Sicily — so for traveling I bring a block of watercolor paper and I can peel each page off.

“My pull-on cart sits under the seat. It has all my paints, blocks, brushes, even some clothing. It’s never away from me. And the handle pulls up and serves as easel. It works wonderfully for traveling all over the world.”

She studied at the California College of Arts and Crafts, then earned a nursing degree at Stanford University because her parents didn’t think she could earn a living painting.

“But I always had a love of people, and I’ve always been grateful for my education in nursing,” she said. “It helped me be a good mother, and when I had breast cancer in 1976.”

Severin’s classes include many older people, she said, which is a joy.

“It opens a new world to people, especially as people get on in life,” she said.

“We have some painting until the very end of life.”

She also has middle-aged and younger adults in her classes, which accepts students 13 and older.

“Art is very healing,” agreed Steffi Gross, who has painted with Severin on and off while raising her two daughters, now 24 and 20.

“I joined the class with an extensive art and photo background,” Gross said. “My kids were little and I needed to get out after dealing with breast cancer. For three hours you think only of painting and leave your worries at home.”

“After joining the class I found out Charlotte also had dealt with the disease,” Gross added. “She brought in a breast examination chart lot during Cancer Awareness month — still a nurse at heart.”

“She is very encouraging for those who are new to being creative,” Gross said.

Severin is going to demonstrate painting on Yupo paper in Niles from 7-9 p.m., Wednesday, May 8, sponsored by the Fremont Art Association. She’ll also be teaching a course in Mendocino from Aug. 18-23. Contact her for more information at 846-6382. In the fall, Severin’s classes will resume from 1-4 p.m. Thursdays for six weeks.

“Celebrating 20 Years of ‘Art Made Easy’ will be on display from May 6-13 at the Senior Center, 5353 Sunol Blvd. An opening reception will take place from 7-9 p.m., Monday, May 6.”

The production is based on a centuries-old Sanskrit legend of Prince Rama, who would like to be a peaceful man but finds that some evils are so great, he must fight against them.

The story of Prince Rama spans seven books and 24,000 verses, according to some sources. The tale is said to have been passed down through generations via oral tradition until it was written down by the poet Valmiki more than two millennia ago.

“There is a reason it’s been popular in South Asia for thousands of years,” said Artistic Director Ennals. “It has a little bit of something for everyone — adventure, romance, questions of right and wrong and what it means to be human.”

“The themes of the story are still relevant today,” she added.

Over the centuries, “Ramayana” has been retold thousands of times in countless regional languages and dialects. It continues as a living tradition in India, Nepal and Southeast Asia, at the Firehouse Theater for two weekends, May 10-12 and May 17-19.

BUSC U15 Premier will meet the Stockton Monarcas Aztec Warriors at 11 a.m. Sunday in Turlock in a soccer match for the NorCal State Cup. The BUSC team returned to the soccer State Cup quarterfinal for the second year in a row April 20, determined to change the results from last year. Their opponent was the two time defending State Cup champions from Redwood City, Juventus Heat 1. BUSC won, 2-1.

The next day, BUSC faced the PAC Indios. The half ended 0-1 for Indios. The second half got under way with BUSC stepping up the line of defending. Indios caused some trouble by blasting the ball and chasing it, only to be thwarted on each attempt by the BUSC center backs Nick Tucker and Armon Ojoula. BUSC attacking midfielder Zachery Connelly gained control of the ball just outside of the Indios penalty box, and sprinted toward the goal. He was about to shoot, and an Indios defender made a foul from behind. A penalty kick was awarded to BUSC. Sam Molz stepped to the spot and smashed the ball into the back of the net to even the game, 1-1.

Because this is a knockout tournament, the game continued into two five-minute Golden Goal Overtime periods, meaning sudden death. Ryan Racer hit a low hard ball that made it to the far side of the goal mouth. Jamal Dessouky then struck the ball into the top of goal. The game ended here, 2-1, with BUSC winning Golden Goal.

This team has been on a roll this year. In the fall, it finished second in the prestigious NorCal National Premier League, losing out on first place by one goal. The core of the team has been together since they played in U9s and 10s. -

AVHS basketball wins scholastic award

Varsity has top GPA in North Coast Section

By Dolores Fox Ciardelli

The boys varsity basketball team at Amador Valley High has bragging rights that go beyond the court, where it reached the first round of North Coast Section finals in February. The team was awarded an NCS Scholastic Championship Team Award for Division I, due to the 3.51 GPA of its members.

“The boys were thought that they had such a strong GPA so this was a new experience for me,” said head coach Ralph Fields. “It’s definitely something to be proud of.”

Fields has been coaching basketball for 15 years, the last live at Amador Valley High.

As a coach you’re always worried about one or two guys, but this year not at all,” he said. “All of our seniors are going off to college, nice colleges. The award is a nice thing for the community, for the school and for the basketball program.”

Fields surprised the varsity with the award at the end of the season basketball banquet, which was held with the JV and freshman teams also.

“They set a very high standard,” Fields said. “It’s nice that the younger guys got to see that and know it’s important.”

He said team members may have been surprised to find out that their fellow players also receive top grades.

“Guys don’t know the guy’s GPA next to them — it’s not typical locker room talk,” Fields said.

“I think this is not just about the basketball program,” he added. “It’s about the staff at Amador, the administration, our athletic director Lou Cesario, our parents all working together. It’s a total team effort.”

Team members are Anthony Adams, Brad Carbine, Stockley Chafee, Jamaun Charles, Jeros Domagas, Glenn Leininger, Mat Macapagal, Max Molz, Austin Piscotty, Scott Rasnick, Nick Reyes, Brandan Raotolo, Josh Staton, David Wang and Josh Weiman. Assistant coaches are Steve Cain, Dave Goldman, Chris Norwood and Bill Martin.

Other Division I basketball teams that received the award are Mission San Jose High School in Fremont, with a 3.68 GPA; and San Ramon Valley High in Danville, with a 3.38 GPA.

Luxury homes sales in Pleasanton nearly doubled in March

Sellers receive average of 103.5% of asking price, up from 98.4% a year ago

By Jeb Bing

Luxury home sales in the East Bay nearly doubled in March compared to February levels as the high-end market continued to surge with the spring home buying season under way.

In a report by Coldwell Banker Residential Brokerage, based on Multiple Listing Service data of all homes sold for more than $1 million last month in Alameda and Contra Costa counties, a total of 162 homes sold for more than $1 million in March, up from 83 transactions in February.

Sales were also up 46% from last March, with 111 luxury sales were recorded.

The median sale price of a luxury home last month rose 5.2% from a year ago to reach $1.3 million in March. On a monthly basis, the median edged down 3% from February.

The upper end of the market showed particular strength in March with 15 sales of more than $2 million, up from just four a year ago and 10 in February.

All other key indicators for the luxury market improved last month from the previous month and a year ago. Homes on average sold in fewer days, and sellers received a higher percentage of their asking price.

“The East Bay’s luxury market has continued its upward momentum with the spring home buying season in full swing,” said Rick Tulley, president of Coldwell Banker Residential Brokerage. “We’re gradually getting more inventory on the market, but it’s still not enough to meet the strong buyer demand.”

Some key findings from this month’s report:

■ The most expensive sale in the East Bay last month was a five-bedroom, seven-bath approximately 6,500-square-foot home in Danville that sold for $4 million.

■ Lafayette boasted the most million-dollar sales with 19, followed by Fremont with 18, Danville and Pleasanton with 17, Oakland with 13, Alamo and San Ramon with 10, and Orinda, Moraga and Berkeley with nine each.

■ Homes sold in an average of 23 days, down from 57 days a year ago and 43 days the previous month.

■ Sellers received an average of 103.5% of their asking price, up from 98.4% a year ago and 101.3% the previous month.

RECENT SELLER REVIEW

All I can say about Julia Murtagh’s ability to sell a home is WOW! We had lived in our home over 20 years and were overwhelmed with the amount of cleanup that would be required to get our house to market. Her top priority in selling our home was to get us “top dollar.” She made us timelines, provided professional contacts, and assisted in all our difficult decision making. Julia will take you by the hand and stay by your side through every step of selling your home. Thank you Julia for helping us receive $21K over asking price!
